About the Seadogs

The Amateur Athletic Union (AAU) is a national organization established in 1983 to provide an additional national level of competition for players, coaches and families who otherwise might not have that opportunity.

The South Shore Baseball Club is a member club in Massachusetts in the New England Association of the AAU organized to compete against other AAU member clubs across the State for the right to appear in the 2017 New England AAU Championships.

Q. "How do I make the Seadogs?"

A. The 2017 Seadogs will be selected from a series of clinic/tryouts to be held in the fall of 2016.

Q. "What about my town team?"

A. Our program is not intended to replace, but to supplement your local Little League, Babe Ruth or American Legion program.

Q. "How much does it cost?"

A. The registration fee for the clinic/tryout is $50 and entitles each participant to every clinic/tryout held for his age. The total cost for participation will vary. More program expense information is provided once selected to the team.

Q. "Where do the Seadogs play?"

A. All Seadogs teams play locally and compete for the New England AAU Championship.

Q. "How much travel is involved in the Seadogs program?"

A. Some Seadogs teams may travel to Regional and National tournaments.

Q. "Do all teams travel to a National Tournament?"

A. No, some Seadogs teams are designed to play locally and compete only for the New England AAU Championship.
